STATEMENT

INTRODUCTION

Your brokerage account statement is a powerful tool that enables you to make informed investment decisions and helps you to effectively manage and maintain a balanced portfolio. Presenting information in easy-to-review sections, your brokerage account statement provides you with a concise, comprehensive picture of your financial status. At a glance, you can easily track your investments, monitor your account activity, evaluate your asset allocation, and view any changes that occur in your account value. In addition, you will receive an annual Form 1099 that summarizes your taxable financial activity for the year, making it simple to accurately report your investments at tax time.

Please take a moment and review this brochure to familiarize yourself with the features and benefits your statement has to offer. Your personal statement is customized to meet your specific financial reporting needs—including only the sections that are relevant to your account; therefore, your statement may not include all of the sections described in this brochure. The contents of this sample brokerage statement are designed to reflect a large number of potential situations. It is not intended to recommend any specific securities or asset allocation. If you have any questions or comments, please contact your investment professional or financial organization.

Portfolio Holdings

This section provides comprehensive details regarding your portfolio's holdings. Organized into subsections and by investment type, this section indicates the quantity, description, market price (if available), market value, dividend and capital gain options, and other information on each security position as of the close of business on the last day of the statement period. In addition, the subsections display the opening and closing cash, margin, short, and money market fund balances.

Transactions

This section provides a detailed list of transactions that were posted to your account since the last statement period. Transactions can be displayed in any one of three ways: by date, by security identification, or by transaction type. The process/settlement date is the date on which a transaction is posted to your account. The date that you initiated either the sale or the purchase of a security also appears in this section.

Accrued Interest Summary

This section provides the sum of the accrued interest paid or received when you purchased or sold fixed income securities during the current statement period and year-to-date.

Income Summary

A summary of dividend, interest, or distribution income posted during the current statement period, and the year-to-date total for each type of income appears in this section. For your convenience, the income is categorized as taxable or nontaxable and summarized by the type of security. For retirement accounts, the income is tax deferred.

Money Market Fund Detail

This section provides information about balances and daily money market fund transactions in date sequence. Opening and closing balances and all purchases and redemptions of your money market funds appear here. If you hold more than one money market fund, each fund's activity is listed separately.
